

Emerging Companies

Bressler's Corporate team understands what it takes to help emerging growth companies get off the ground, expand and thrive. Our attorneys have formed scores of new companies in verticals that range from technology and life sciences, to retail and consumer goods, to professional and financial services and beyond.

We have broad experience in working with technology company startups and angel and venture investors, and offer clients the full range of corporate services to establish and grow their business, whether to IPO or exit.

We protect intellectual property rights, prepare licensing agreements, provide corporate governance related counsel and negotiate and document joint ventures and strategic alliances.
