Preston Martin's practice focuses primarily on the defense of financial institutions (brokerage firms and banks) against claims asserted by their customers and former employees in court and arbitration proceedings across the United States. In addition, Preston has an estate planning practice, which includes the preparation of wills, trusts, and other estate planning documents.

Here are a few types of matters common to Preston's legal practice:

- Defend brokerage firms in securities arbitrations before FINRA (the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority)
- Pursue expungement of customer complaints on behalf of financial advisors
- Defend brokerage firms in expungement arbitrations
- Prepare estate planning documents, such as wills, trusts, and powers of attorney
- Defend brokerage firms in probate litigation

Admitted to practice law in both Alabama and Georgia, Preston's recent achievements include obtaining summary judgment in the Northern District of Alabama on behalf of one of the nation's largest mortgage lenders and servicers. Preston also successfully arbitrated a matter for a global financial services firm, resulting in a $0 award for the claimant.

Preston is also a member of Bressler's Senior and Vulnerable Investor Group. The lawyers in this group have a shared interest in providing counsel to corporate clients who confront issues affecting seniors.

Preston is committed to providing pro bono legal services as part of his regular practice. Preston serves on the Board of Directors for Volunteer Lawyers Birmingham (VLB), a nationally-recognized organization that provides free legal services to low-income Birmingham citizens. Preston volunteers monthly through the VLB's legal help desks, and he regularly
